

Amendment to the Specification

In the Specification:

Please amend the specification as follows:

On Page 21, the paragraph beginning at line 27 should be replaced with the following.

Accordingly, yet another preferred embodiment of the present invention facilitates the download and display of selected portions of a content document as a function of content display area 62 in a browser window 260 (or full display area) on a client device. In this embodiment, the content that is downloaded to the client device might be an entire Web page if the client device is a personal computer, or may comprise on a selected one or more content modules comprising the Web page is if the client device that is detected is a cellular phone or other client device having a very small display.